Thanks, Andrew – and sorry, I was literally just sitting down to email you. We would propose March 15 and 25 – I know this is a little later than we discussed, and that the gap between the two dates is 10 days instead of 7, but honestly, this is about my difficult schedule these days (including that I am out of town from March 16 – 22nd. And as I said, I have 3 oral arguments the first week of March and just had another scheduled in EDNY on March 9, and so it has become difficult to get days both to meet and to prep. We hope those days work for you – promise we are not delaying, only trying to schedule around other court commitments (and a long-scheduled, if short, ski vacation). Let us know if those days work, as well as where you want to do these – and again, thanks to all of you for your patience and professionalism.

Could set up a quick phone call, perhaps tomorrow, to discuss further the potential interview of Mr. Hwang? We want to explore the possibility of setting up two dates, a week apart, with agreement on certain topics to be primarily addressed on each date and perhaps a topic or two that will not be the focus on either day.

We're still working through schedules here but are hoping to be able to finalize tomorrow. Two quick questions to help along that process – first, do you have an estimate of how much time we should plan to block off? And second, in addition to Thursday morning, do you have availability on Friday either in the morning before 11:00 or in the afternoon at 2:00 or later?

thanks,

Can we tentatively plan for next Thursday morning? Alex and Matt are both tied up today, but I will confirm with you as soon as I able to check their calendars.

For the interview with Bill, it would still be most helpful to try to accomplish that at the end of this month. But happy to speak about what is realistic next week, and to pick a date that works for everyone.

Hi Larry—

Thanks again for the presentation, for the follow-up, and for the willingness to address our questions. We look forward to the continued dialogue.

We have a few additional thoughts to add to your list. Longer term, however, we do think that it is going to be helpful to hear from Mr. Hwang directly. If an interview of Mr. Hwang is something that you and he remain willing to consider, we would propose to reserve a date in mid-February or perhaps late February to keep open for that purpose. Let us know if that makes sense to you. We are, of course, happy to discuss procedure, format, and topics as we move forward.

Some notes and questions:

- We hope our continued conversation with you will give us an understanding of Mr. Hwang's personal perspective and understanding. We aren't aiming to prompt you to find a general institutional answer to our questions; we can engage with Archegos's counsel for matters that may lie outside of Mr. Hwang's awareness.
- Within the "Research Issues" bucket
 - Did Mr. Hwang have an understanding of what day-to-day role Mr. Mills played in oversight of the research teams, if any?
 - Did Mr. Hwang convey analytical guidance to analysts? For example, did he say what metrics to focus on or whether to use (or not use) certain quantitative models or modeling assumptions? Did Mr. Hwang's guidance on these matters change over time?
- Within the "trading issues" bucket
 - What were Mr. Hwang's practices with respect to sharing or not sharing his investment strategy/portfolio composition with non-bank outsiders? For example, with other hedge funds, industry colleagues, Tiger cubs, etc.
 - We understand Mr. Hwang received a number of reports daily or weekly about positions, cash, margin, etc. What were the routine reports that Mr. Hwang asked to receive and why did he wish to receive those specific reports?
 - What is Mr. Hwang's understanding of capacity limits or other trade restrictions imposed by banks and counterparties?
 - Where there occasions when Mr. Hwang directed traders to buy and sell the same security during the course of the same trading day? Why?
- Interactions with banks
 - We wanted to make sure we understood fully your remarks about Mr. Hwang's knowledge of interactions between Archegos and its counterparties, and the extent of Mr. Hwang's involvement (or lack thereof) in those interactions:
 - What role did Mr. Hwang play in the selection of counterparties?

- What information did Mr. Hwang authorize (or not authorize) be shared with banks and counterparties about the business?
- Is Mr. Hwang aware of any misrepresentation made by an Archegos employee to a bank representative?

Sincerely,

Andrew, Alex, and Matt

Subject: [EXTERNAL] FW: Archegos: Gibbons P.C. Presentation re Bill Hwang

Andrew, Alex, Matt –

I hope you all had a good weekend. As a follow-up to my email of Friday, below are the questions (organized by topic) that we recall you posing during our January 7 meeting. We are sending these to you in advance of our preparation of answers, as promised, so that you have the chance to review them and either add to or otherwise modify them. We want to address the issues most helpful to your investigation and make sure we are providing you with the information you want and need as quickly as possible. Please note that for some of these items, although we did address the subject generally during our meeting, we thought from the discussion that additional detail would be helpful to you. In any event, we look forward to providing you with prompt responses once we confirm that these items cover the information you would like. Let us know.

1. Research issues:

- a. How did Bill utilize the research he was given? What factors would Bill consider when adjusting a target price for a stock?
- b. Would Bill memorialize any differences with his research team and (if so) how? (See also Question 3(b) below).
- c. Who did the research teams report to and who provided oversight in the research area? [

2. Investment/trading issues:

- a. Was the investment philosophy of the fund consistent throughout 2020 and 2021, beginning in January 2020?
- b. Why did the fund take its position in GSX? Was it consistent with other fund holdings / philosophy? How did it relate to the pandemic?
- c. Were any changes in both the overall concentration of investment holdings and the names of holdings between

January 2020 and March 2021
consistent with the fund's strategy?
What explains any changes?
(Addressing Slide 17, and extending back to January 2020)

3. Compliance Issues:

- a. How, if at all, was compliance involved when trades were executed outside the parameters of a research memo (i.e., at a higher target price)?
- b. Did compliance document Bill's trading decisions, especially if those decisions appeared to conflict with research memos or price targets?
- c. Was there ever an instance when compliance did not allow a trade to proceed (for any reason other than MNPI / restricted list reasons)? If so, give details.

Thanks and best regards – hope everyone is staying well.

Larry

Subject: RE: Archegos: Gibbons P.C. Presentation re Bill Hwang

Friends – Thank you for the opportunity to meet with you all today. As promised, and with apologies for the delay in getting this to you – my day just spun out of control – here is a .pdf of the power point we used this morning. By early next week, we will be able to get you a list of the questions that you posed to us today, to which we will provide responses, so that you can add to or otherwise modify them. And we will also be in touch about next steps.

Thanks again, and please be well and have a great weekend.

Larry
